

Search Results

New Search Back

Land Reform and Sustainable Development

Robert W. Dixon-Gough

Series: International Land Management Series

$140.00/£70.00

Add to Basket

This book is unique in that it gives a valuable comparison between the current state of land reform and sustainable development across greater Europe. The chapters are broadly divided into those related to the established systems of land reform and sustainable development encountered in Western Europe, and those which concentrate upon the evolving systems which are currently in the process of development in the former communist states of Eastern and Central Europe. The book is based on the papers presented at the 21st International Symposium of the European Faculty of Land Use and Development. The papers have been presented and peer-reviewed by some of the leading experts and practitioners of Land Reform in Europe. All papers have been extensively edited and revised, and are presented as chapters within the three sections of the book: Land Reform, Sustainable Development and Rural Land Development.

Contents

Land reform: the key to sustainable development; The naturalist's dilemma and some ecological consequences for development; Ecological land development and multidisciplinary research; Recent developments in multifunctional rural land development in The Netherlands with respect to legal instruments; Sustainable development and land consolidation; Public and legally-binding databases for natural resources; Geographical information systems and environmental modelling for sustainable development; Institutional systems of agrarian reform; The necessary foundations of land reform: some painful post-Soviet experiences; The privatization and recitation process in the Czech Republic; Conceptions of rural planning following land privatization in Hungary; Land tenure and land reform in South Dobrudja (north east Bulgaria); Land reform and the land market in Bulgaria; Sustainability as a principle in spatial development? Questions for policy and education; Spatial planning – a key to sustainability; Integrated agrarian structures and regional development; The ecological score model of Lower Austria – a programme to foster sustainable cultural landscape development; The alpine waterscape – sustainable tourism and industrial development in Lago d'Iseo; Marinas and sustainable development: making the most out of marinas; Realisation of new urban areas and sustainable development; The railway town: a case study in sustainable urban development; Violence and the urban environment – reform and development of the housing stock; Sustainable development in the Thames gateway; Reclamation of abandoned land leading to sustainable development; Index.

Reviews

'The themes of land reform and sustainable development are rarely combined in academic literature...This edited work is thus welcome as it brings together in one single volume a large variety of articles about both themes and many that explore the relationship between environmental sustainability and land reform...this volume deserves to be praised for providing papers which address practical issues often ignored in academic debates and, at the same time, making their relevance clear to any wide ranging discussions. For these and other reasons, it will certainly be of interest to both academics and practitioners concerned with the practical difficulties of land reform in Europe and the inclusion of sustainability considerations in land management.'

Environmental Politics

Further Information

Affiliation: Robert W. Dixon-Gough, University of East London, UK

Illustrations: Includes 12 figures

ISBN: 0 7546 1052 7

Publication Date: 10/1999

Number of Pages: 318 pages

Binding: Hardback

Binding Options: Available in Hardback only

Book Size: 219 x 153 mm

ISBN-13 978-0-7546-1052-6

ASHGATE

Quick Search

» View Shopping Basket

» Retrieve Saved Basket

» Go to Checkout

» New Search

» Series Search

» Journals

» About Ashgate

» Join Our Mailing List

» Ashgate Contacts